After protracted litigation, the Government of India acquired 173 items of jewellery from the Nizam Jewellery Trust and Nizam Supplemental Trust at a cost of Rs. 218 crores. Since these jewels are invaluable and need extraordinary security, they were kept in the Gold Valuts of Reserve Bank Of India, Mumbai. At present, the National Museum, New Delhi is the only museum in the country equipped to display the jewels, and as such in order to comply with the Supreme Court's directives, the exhibition would be held first at National Museum, New Delhi.
